Community Group Directory – 2010

This is the third edition of the Parks Forum Directory. It includes brief descriptions of voluntary organisations that help look after many of the parks and other green spaces in Bristol. The groups listed are all members of the Bristol Parks Forum.

Also listed are some of the organisations that work with these groups and assist them, for example, with advice or resources.

Contact details are included to facilitate links between groups, these were correct at the time of printing in March 2010.

There is also an online listing of groups on the Parks Forum website at www.bristolparksforum.org.uk that will be updated if new groups are formed or if contact details change.

Our thanks to the groups, not just for sending in their information, but for the brilliant contribution that they make to the greening of Bristol.

This directory was produced by Bristol Parks and the Bristol Parks Forum.

Bristol Parks Forum (BPF)

BPF is a network of individual community groups and organisations that are working to improve parks and green spaces or have an interest in them. It is supported by the council but acts independently and is currently the only “community voice” that is dedicated to all of Bristol’s green spaces.

The Forum’s 3 main roles are to:

- Offer an opportunity to share ideas and experience;
- Act as a consultation body for the Bristol Parks service and other agencies;
- Influence decision-making, including the allocation of resources.

The forum meets four times a year, including an annual conference. You can sign up for regular BPF email updates with news about parks & green spaces in Bristol via the BPF website'.

New parks groups and similar organisations with an interest in protecting and enhancing green and open space are always welcome.

Shirehampton Greens

Shirehampton Greens is a small community group dedicated to the preservation and enhancement of open green space in Shirehampton. We have been active with Bristol City Council in the management of Lamplighters Marsh and particularly that part of the Nature Conservancy site known as the Daisy Field. We have campaigned locally to secure the riverside area known as Lamplighters Open Space from possible future development. This year we took part in BCC's bid to Natural England for Access to Nature funding. Lamplighters Marsh is one of seven proposed Wild City sites. We hope to deliver a range of events opening the Marsh to wider access as part of the Wild City project.

Friends of Badock's Wood

The Badock's Wood Local Nature Reserve is situated in north Bristol, between Southmead, Henleaze and Westbury-on-Trym; it was formally designated as a LNR in January 2008. The area covers approximately 12 hectares and can be readily accessed from Lakewood Road and Doncaster Road. The Woods were given to the City by Sir Stanley Badock (a local industrialist) in 1937 and consist of a large grassed area and a beautiful wooded valley, with the River Trym in the valley floor. The woodland is at least 400 years old in parts and a Bronze Age burial mound (tumulus) gives added interest to the site. The Friends of Badock's Wood is an enthusiastic local amenity group who provide a focus for local residents with an interest in protecting and enhancing the woods – this includes workdays and community events. In 2005 and 2007, Wild Flower Meadows were sown in order to enhance the appearance of the grassland area, which had previously been a site for 81 prefabs that were demolished in 1979/82. Tarmaced paths throughout the majority of the site provide good access and are wheelchair friendly.

Friends of Stoke Lodge

Stoke Lodge is a beautiful and important historic landscape forming the grounds of a listed building in Stoke Bishop. Magnificent specimen trees are carefully spaced throughout the parkland/playing fields to allow them to reach their mature shapes and to be properly admired. The BBC's first live "Spring Watch" series filmed with Bill Oddie, Kate Humble and Simon King (then called "Wild in Your Garden") was based at Stoke Lodge. The program said that its open parkland and surrounding properties form one of the best residential areas for wildlife in the nation. It is well loved by locals but also used by teams from further away who have lost their playing fields to development. The Area Green Space Strategy has highlighted the locality's lack of public open space.

The aims of Friends of Stoke Lodge are to preserve Stoke Lodge Parkland/Playing Fields for future generations for sports and casual recreation and to retain its trees, its open aspect, its grass sports pitches, its wildlife and its undoubted beauty.

The Friends group was formed in 2006 to campaign for Town Green status in order to protect the area from threatened unsightly and damaging development and to safeguard its use by the whole local community for lawful sports and pastimes. The constitution contains other worthy aims.

Friends of the Avon New Cut

The Avon New Cut is a tidal waterway running through the centre of Bristol. Excavated between 1804 and 1809, it was an essential part of the development of Bristol's Floating Harbour. The Cut is still vitally important to the function of the City Docks and the surrounding area for drainage. It is now an area rich in flora and fauna – a green lung in the centre of the city.

The Friends of the Avon New Cut (FrANC) is a group of local residents who are promoting a greater understanding and appreciation of the Cut - including its history, wildlife, bridges, bankside buildings and its role in making Bristol work. We run guided walks and events, organise riverbank clean-up sessions, publish regular newsletters and have produced a book and a wildlife leaflet. FrANC was founded in 2004.

Friends of Fox Park

The group is dedicated to looking after and improving a small public space that was once the bed of the river Frome, before the river was culverted during construction of the M32. Regeneration began in 2006 when a new shared-use path was constructed as part of the Frome Greenway. Since then the group has initiated many improvements including planting, fencing, seats and bins. We have successfully applied for small grants to help with the work. We are always pleased to welcome new members and often hold social events in between the more serious work.

Mina Road Park Group

The group was formally established in 1997, it meets monthly and has about a dozen members. Working with Bristol Parks we have raised funding for the replacement of paths, railings, seats and bins, re-equipped the play area and had the Grade II listed urinal completely restored.

- We have now undertaken the total renovation of the stream (Horfield Brook), and its Georgian boundary wall, with funding from the Heritage Lottery Fund and Living Spaces. Using surplus funds(!) we've had a second footbridge installed, and hope to do extra planting round the stream this summer.

- We have spent the last eight years trying, and mostly failing, to get the basic maintenance done to a decent standard in the Park. In particular we're concerned at the deteriorating condition of the grass, a problem common to Bristol's parks.
- Mina Road Park Group is an active supporter of, and participant in, the Bristol Parks Forum, regarding its existence as essential to secure the future of Bristol's parks and green spaces.

Ashton Vale Heritage Group

We are a community group, based in Ashton Vale, where Colliter's Brook runs directly through the neighbourhood, with Longmoor and Ashton Brooks situated very close by. We formed in September 2008, following the destruction to local fields which are an important wildlife area (SNCI), Open Space and a valuable asset to the community in Ashton Vale.

Now established, the group is getting involved in local plans and consultations for our area, and are working hard to deliver information and promoting community events to residents in the area via email and newsletters.

We want as many people as possible to join the group so we can really reflect the views of the local community.

Kingfisher Group

The Kingfisher Group was formed in 2004 by residents living in Windmill Hill who are interested in caring for and improving our local green spaces. regular clear-ups, ground work and planting, we also have social events for the residents of Windmill Hill. We work with other community groups to help preserve and protect the built and natural environments in south Bristol.

Northern Slopes Initiative

The Northern Slopes are three linked areas of public open space, located between the north of Knowle West and the southern edge of Bedminster/Windmill Hill. The slopes are made up of undulating, steep terrain and escarpment, with a mixture of semi-improved grassland, woodland and scrub. They are used by local people for getting around, dog walking, cycling, informal play, watching wildlife, and for admiring spectacular views across Bristol.

The Northern Slopes Initiative is a group of people seeking to maintain, conserve and enhance the Northern Slopes. Originally set up to protect the areas from housing development, the Group has expanded its work to encourage others to join with them to work for the benefit of the people and communities that live around the Slopes; and the features that make the Slopes what they are.
