The St John's Burial Ground, on Cotswold Rd in Windmill Hill, is deconsecrated cemetery which is now a public open space. It has suffered from neglect and fly-tipping over the years. Our group of local residents has been formed with the aim of reclaiming the space for the community by transforming it into a productive and vibrant community orchard and a good source of local food. We aim to engage local people in the creation and shared use of this community space, to help improve the quality of the environment in our area by improving biodiversity, making the green space more attractive, and to provide recreational and educational opportunities for people living in the area.
